

Summit Cycles — Company Handbook

About the Company

Summit Cycles is a bicycle manufacturer founded in 2015 by Diego Marchetti in the city of Turin, Italy. The company designs road and mountain bicycles and employs 120 people. Summit Cycles ships to customers across the European Union and Switzerland.

Products

Summit Cycles sells three bicycle models. The Vento is an entry-level road bike, priced at 850 euros, and weighs 11 kilograms. The Aquila is a carbon-frame road bike, priced at 2,400 euros, and weighs just 8 kilograms. The Terra is a mountain bike, priced at 1,900 euros, and is the only model with full suspension.

Warranty and Returns

Every Summit Cycles frame carries a lifetime warranty, while the components carry a two-year warranty. Customers may return an unused bicycle within 14 days of delivery for a full refund. Assembled or ridden bicycles cannot be returned.

Customer Support

The Summit Cycles support team can be reached by phone. Support is available Monday to Saturday, from 8:00 AM to 8:00 PM Central European Time. The team is closed on Sundays.

Shipping

Shipping within Italy is free on all orders. Delivery elsewhere in the European Union takes up to fifteen business days. Summit Cycles does not ship outside the European Union and Switzerland.
